CEO lauded for social action

By Paul E. Kandarian | October 19, 2008

BUSINESS BRIEFS: John Fish of Milton, CEO of Suffolk Construction in Boston, has been given the 2008 CEO Social Leadership Award administered by the Boston College Center for Corporate Citizenship and the Boston Business Journal, for his commitment to improving the lives of families in need.

Fish has served on the Strategic Planning Committee for the Archdiocese of Boston's 2010 Initiative, sits on the board of trustees of the Catholic Schools Foundation, is a board member for the Boys and Girls Club of Boston, and has partnered with Boston Mayor Thomas Menino, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, and philanthropist Jack Connors on the construction of Camp Harbor View in Boston Harbor, a summer camp for underprivileged inner-city children.

He has also chaired the Initiative for a Competitive Inner City (ICIC) Awards dinner to honor 100 of the nation's most successful inner-city-based companies and CEOs, and last year received the Anti-Defamation League's most prestigious honor, the "Torch of Liberty" award, for his leadership and fund-raising efforts.
