Dear Mr. President Obama,

Wow!!! You are asking me what I need for a successful future???? Well what I need is the right kind of strong education system. Another thing that I need is a good attitude towards everything that I do even if I fail. Lastly what I need is an experience. That's what I need to have a successful future full of brightness!!!

The theory that I have about a strong education system is that all the teachers are firm and still nice and loving. Also, what I mean by a strong education system is that I need someone that will encourage me to have a bright future. When I say someone that will give me a bright future... I mean that this person will have to be inspiring. Well maybe not all will be inspiring but I will, I am determined that I will have a bright future good teacher or not. It's mostly on the teacher because they are the ones that are putting the knowledge in our heads.

Another thing that students like me need for a bright future is a positive attitude. We need a positive attitude because it is what will make us strive for a good grade at the end of the day. Also, we need a positive attitude because I think it will make you feel better as a person. Plus we need to be able to get back on our feet because it will make you successful.

The next thing that we need is an experience. An experience like this would inspire me to do better and to make a future instead of dreaming of having a future. The next thing that I need to be successful is to do this and I promise that if you choose me to do this then you will not regret this. This is a really good opportunity. Please choose me to go on this amazing trip.

There are also some issues that I think that we should get out of the way. The first one is the gangs that are around and are being formed. They are all around and they show that they are in a gang and they are proud when they shouldn't. Also, they are around where I am and they do things that hold me back. For example, when I am doing homework, I will hear big bangs...that sometimes scares me.

Another issue that I have is that a lot of high school and middle school students drop out of school. They may or may not persuade me to drop out. I'm not really easily influenced by those kinds of things... but you never know... it could happen. What Obama could do is that he could have a class on why people should stay in school. Also, what Obama could do to prevent dropouts is that he could offer incentives. Like money or a big luxury item or a dream vacation to anywhere out side of the US.

My last issue is that kids my age are getting into drugs and drinking. This is bad for the health and it is very bad for peoples focus in school. That is what I have to say about drugs. What I have to say about drinking is that it can mess you up. Obama can demand that some stores stop selling fake ID's. That is probably the whole cause of the whole teenagers drinking issue. The adults that the teens hang out with probably invite them to adult party's with booze and nasty vodka.

So in conclusion, what I need for a bright future is a strong education system. I will also need a positive attitude. One of the last things that I need is an experience. Last I need all of those issues that will try to get in my way to be resolved. That is all that I will need to be the most successful man alive like Obama!!!!

Sincerely,

OA
