

Southie Club Council Innauguration

On Jan. 28, the South Boston Boys and Girls Club held its Club Council inauguration. A new council is elected every three years to work toward improving the club by advocating on behalf of their fellow members. The inauguration was attended by friends, families, past club councilors, and fellow members.

At left, South Boston Boys and Girls Club executive director Harry Duvall kicked off the 2011 Inauguration with his opening remarks.

Guest speakers were former club councilor and current state Representative Nick Collins, former club mayor and current advisory board member Paul Saia, former club councilor and current city councilor Bill Linehan, former club member and current state Senator Jack Hart, and the president and CEO of Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, Josh Kraft.

This year, eight members - Darrin Brack, Kyle Murphy, Luis Falcon, Shane MacDonald, Julie Ann Perez, Brianna Barbosa, Alexis Tamburello, and Anna Metaxeniou - were elected by their peers to be Club Councilors, and one member, Patrick Lynch, was elected club mayor.

Alexis Tamburello is sworn in by state Representative Nick Collins.

Club members smile as their friends take office.

The past, present, and future of the South Boston Boys and Girls Club.

New Club Mayor Patrick Lynch is sworn in by state Senator Jack Hart.