More than 500 people turned out last night for the annual Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston dinner, which raised some $1.35-million for the clubs in Boston.

Attendees heard from several children in the programs, including Patrick Lynch of Boston and Joey Kostigen, Kerstin Kostigen and their mother Kristi O'Meara. "I love sports, especially hockey," Joey Kostigen told the crowd, while praising the activities at the South Boston Club.

Khamari Barnes, of the Yawkey Club of Roxbury, sang "People Get Ready" to close out the dinner, which was held at the Westin Copley Plaza Hotel.
